

NORDIC HAMSTRING ANALYSIS

The Easytech Italia N3 Performance is a portable Nordic Hamstring training and assessment device that enables precise evaluation and strengthening of knee flexor muscles through eccentric and isometric loading, offering real-time biofeedback and performance tracking for athletes and rehabilitation clients. Designed to be easily folded and carried with its trolley bag, it supports autonomous training in gyms, clinics, or on the field while providing clear analytical data through its dedicated Android interface for individual or group monitoring. The system helps prevent hamstring injuries, refine return-to-play protocols, and enhance functional performance with accurate strength measurement and intuitive user feedback.
