

FLOWX-PRO 6000

The FlowX-Pro 6000 is a high-performance altitude (hypoxic) generator designed for home use, gyms, and professional training facilities. It simulates high-altitude environments from 0 to 6,000 meters with an impressive airflow of 10,000 liters per hour (10 m³/h), automating altitude control for spaces up to 40 m³. Controlled by a programmable Siemens Comfort Touch Panel, it offers weekly adjustable programs and manual altitude/oxygen control options. The unit can be installed up to 20 meters away from the training area to reduce noise. With multi-language support (English, Dutch, French, German) and a 2-year warranty, it delivers professional-grade altitude simulation for serious athletes and facilities. The system is ideal for elite sports academies, rehabilitation centers, and altitude research laboratories seeking precise hypoxic conditioning.
